The drift to the cities should be encouraged," Mr. McMillen asserted.

"Except for research appropriations, tariff adjustment and tax revision," he said, "Legislation can do little toward solving farm problems."

He branded government schemes "such as the McNary-Haugen bill" as futile Export debarment, he said would-work, but may be made unsafe to add to political system. He advocated higher tariffs on numerous products of which we grow a deficiency. Thus, he said, would help.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 8.—A 50-year-old Portsmouth husband who according to police here, shot and seriously wounded his 19-year-old wife and her mother in that Ohio river city, was being held by police here today.

He was arrested last night on the west side here, when he stopped to repair his dilapidated auto. His wife's maiden name, he said, is Lucy Galloway. The aged man charged that the girl's first husband visited her while she was at work, and that his wife tried to give money to him.

RIVERSIDE, Calif., Feb. 8.—Found guilty of slaying three youths, Gordon Stewart Northcott, 21-year-old Canadian, today was in the shadow of the gallows.

The jury which found Northcott guilty deliberated but three hours and fifteen minutes and convicted him on the fourth ballot. "The jurors failed to recommend mercy. The young Canadian is also under indictment for the murder of Walter Collins, another young boy. His mother, Mrs. Louise Northcott, is now serving a life term after confessing to the slaying of the Collins boy. Northcott was named as an accomplice in this crime.

Northcott was the coolest person in the courtroom when the verdict was announced. He smiled sardonically as he heard himself doomed and mumbled a sneering "thank you" beneath his breath.

After Judge Freeman thanked the jurors for their work, Northcott, unshaken, arose to his feet and said:

"I, too, wish to thank the jury for its attention to its duties."

After Deputy District Attorney Earl Redwine told the court that Monday was agreeable to the prosecution for passing of sentence Northcott, with a shrug of his shoulders, declared "that it was immaterial to me when sentence is passed."

Protests To Commission's Valuation.

Preliminary to the filing briefs by Feb. 18 and the presentation of final arguments on Feb. 20, a hearing in the rate controversy between the city of Circleville and the Citizens Telephone Co. was held in Columbus Thursday before the Ohio Public Utilities Commission.

The hearing was held to permit both parties to introduce into the record their protests against the tentative valuation placed on the telephone company's property by the commission's engineers.

When the telephone company filed its application for an increase in its rates, it submitted a present valuation of $632,992.95. Circleville, opposing the increase, submitted an estimate of $375,669.37 for the company's property. The utilities commission then made its own valuation, which it placed at $465,374.71.

Both the company and the city filed protests against the commission's valuation. At Thursday's hearing Gustav Hirsch, Columbus engineer for the company, was placed on the witness stand.

He was examined by Grover C. Maxwell, Columbus, attorney for the telephone company and cross-examined concerning various items in the valuations by attorneys for Circleville. The city was represented by Becher W. W. Watterline, assistant counsel and City Solicitor Paul Adams.

of Meeting.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 8.—Today, the fifth and last of the seventeenth annual Farmers Week at the Ohio State University here, included a special program of interest to members of the Grange, as well as the general program arranged for all visitors. Joseph Ficher, state lecturer for the Ohio Grange, was the first speaker on the Grange program this morning. "Market gardeners are allowing insects to destroy about 10 per cent of the value of their vegetable crops, and too often do not make an honest effort to destroy the insects," said the university entomologists. "Nor is the loss decreasing, they asserted. As fast as new insecticides and control measures are developed to meet the insect pests, newly introduced species such as the Mexican Bean Beetle join the forces of the enemy and call for new methods of control."

EDWIN DENBY, EX-SECRETARY OF NAVY, DIES

Member of Harding Cabinet
Succumbs To Heart Attack At Detroit.

DETROIT, Feb. 8.—Edwin Denby, former member of congress, private in the marine corps during the World war and secretary of the navy in the Harding cabinet, died of heart failure in the Whittier hotel here today.

On Feb. 18 the former cabinet official would have been 59 years old.

Edwin Denby was born in Evansville, Ind., but his early youth was spent with his father, Charles Denby, who held the post of consul general at Pekin, China.

He returned from the Orient to attend the University of Michigan where he was star center of the "M" team in 1896 in which year he took the degree of Bachelor of Laws.

GUNNER'S MATE

His start in the practice of law was interrupted by the Spanish American war, during which he served as gunner's mate on the U. S. S. Yosemite and gained valuable experience which served him in good stead when he entered President Harding's cabinet.

He was married in 1911 to Marion Thaurber, of Detroit. There are two children, Edwin R. and Marion. Denby was elected to congress from Detroit for the 59th, 60th, and 61st sessions of the house of representatives, 1905-11.

When the United States entered the World war in April, 1917, Denby enlisted as a private in the marine corps. He retired as a major in the reserve.

He was appointed to the Harding cabinet as secretary of the navy on March 4, 1921. He resigned March 10, 1924.

Denby, appointed secretary of the navy by President Harding, retained his position when Calvin Coolidge took over the reins of government when the startling disclosure of the Teapot "Domestic scandal" rocked political circles in Washington. Denby was attacked in congress and his resignation demanded.

Denby defended himself against the attacks of those who sought to link him with the gigantic oil deal. For some time he defied senate accusers and refused to resign, but finally, to "save President Coolidge the embarrassment of the continued attacks on a member of his cabinet," Denby resigned.

A legion of friends here and elsewhere defended him staunchly. When he returned from Washington after handing in his portfolio, he was the recipient of a triumphal parade from the railroad station to the city hall, where the keys of the city were turned over to him.

Denby was prominent in Michigan business and automotive circles. He founded the Denby truck company and was one of the organizers of the Hupp Motor Co. Since his retirement from public life he was a practicing attorney in the firm of Denby, Kennedy & Kennedy.

PHONE RATES GET HEARING

Company and City Enter
Protests To Commission's Valuation.

Preliminary to the filing briefs by Feb. 18 and the presentation of final arguments on Feb. 20, a hearing in the rate controversy between the city of Circleville and the Citizens Telephone Co. was held in Columbus Thursday before the Ohio Public Utilities Commission.

The hearing was held to permit both parties to introduce into the record their protests against the tentative valuation placed on the telephone company's property by the commission's engineers.

When the telephone company filed its application for an increase in its rates, it submitted a present valuation of $632,992.95. Circleville, opposing the increase, submitted an estimate of $373,669.37 for the company's property. The utilities commission then made its own valuation, which it placed at $465,374.74.

Both the company and the city filed protests against the commission's valuation. At Thursday's hearing, Gustav Hirsch, Columbus, engineer for the company, was placed on the witness stand.

He was examined by Grover C. Maxwell, Columbus, attorney for the telephone company, and cross-examined concerning various items in the valuations by attorneys for Circleville. The city was represented by Beecher W. Waltemire, special counsel, and City Solicitor Paul Adkins.

After the final briefs are filed and the final arguments on them are made, a decision in the rate controversy will be made by the commission.

MEETING IS CALLED

The annual meeting of the Circleville Benevolent association will be held at 2:30 p. m. Saturday in the city cottage. All members of the association are asked to be present for the transaction of important business.

FINAL DAY OF FARMERS WEEK

Special Program For Grange
Marks Closing Sessions
of Meeting.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 8.—Today, the fifth and last of the seventeenth annual Farmers' Week at the Ohio State University here, included a special program of interest to members of the Grange, as well as the general program arranged for all visitors. Joseph Fisher, state lecturer for the Ohio Grange, was the first speaker on the Grange program this morning. He spoke on "The Place of the Grange Lecture in the Social Program of the Rural Community."

Jesse Newsom, master of the Indiana State Grange, delivered an address on "Some Prerequisites to Happiness and Success on the Farm." C. A. Dyer, legislative representative of the Grange and the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, spoke on "The Grange as a Forum on Public Questions." The topic, "Opportunities for the Grange in Rural Social Service," was handled by C. C. Taylor, professor of rural organization in the North Carolina A. & M. College.

One feature of the program of the Ohio Vegetable Growers' Association, which closed its annual meeting today, was a discussion of the ravages of some common garden insects. The discussion was led by T. H. Parks and M. P. Jones, extension entomologist of the university.

"Market gardeners are allowing insects to destroy about 10 per cent of the value of their vegetable crops, and too often do not make an honest effort to destroy the insects," said the university entomologists. Nor is the loss decreasing, they asserted. As fast as new insecticides and control measures are developed to meet the insect pests, newly introduced species, such as the Mexican Bean Beetle, join the forces of the enemy and call for new methods of control.

AUTHOR IS SUPPER MEETING SPEAKER

A splendid meeting of the congregation of the Presbyterian church began Thursday night with a covered dish supper in the social rooms of the church. This part of the evening's program was in the hands of the Ladies' Aid Society under the direction of the president, Mrs. C. E. Groce.

The main feature of the program was the address by Dr. Guy L. Morrill, author of many books on stewardship. Dr. Morrill spoke informally to the congregation on the history of the Presbyterian church, and the responsibility it puts on the present day members to keep up the traditions.

The evening was concluded by a meeting of the church officials with Dr. Morrill.

EDWIN DENBY, EX-SECRETARY OF NAVY, DIES

Member of Harding Cabinet
Succumbs To Heart Attack At Detroit.

DETROIT, Feb. 8.—Edwin Denby, former member of congress, private in the marine corps during the World war and secretary of the navy in the Harding cabinet, died of heart failure in the Whittier hotel here today.

On Feb. 18 the former cabinet official would have been 59 years old.

Edwin Denby was born in Evansville, Ind., but his early youth was spent with his father, Charles Denby, who held the post of consul general at Pekin, China.

He returned from the Orient to attend the University of Michigan where he was star center of the "M" team in 1896 in which year he took the degree of Bachelor of Laws.

GUNNER'S MATE

His start in the practise of law was interrupted by the Spanish American war, during which he served as gunner's mate on the U. S. S. Yosemite and gained valuable experience which served him in good stead when he entered President Harding's cabinet.

He was married in 1911 to Marion Thurber, of Detroit. There are two children, Edwin R., and Marion.

Denby was elected to congress from Detroit for the 59th, 60th, and 61st sessions of the house of representatives, 1905-11.

When the United States entered the World war in April, 1917, Denby enlisted as a private in the marine corps. He retired as a major in the reserve.

RESIGNS UNDER FIRE

He was appointed to the Harding cabinet as secretary of the navy on March 4, 1921. He resigned March 10, 1924.

Denby, appointed secretary of the navy by President Harding, retained his position when Calvin Coolidge took over the reins of government when the startling disclosure of the Teapot Dome oil scandal rocked political circles in Washington, Denby was attacked in congress and his resignation demanded.

Denby defended himself against the attacks of those who sought to link him with the gigantic oil steal. For some time he defied senate accusers and refused to resign, but finally, to "save President Coolidge the embarrassment of the continued attacks on a member of his cabinet," Denby resigned.

DEFENDED BY FRIENDS

A legion of friends here and elsewhere defended him staunchly. When he returned from Washington after handing in his portfolio, he was the recipient of a triumphal parade from the railroad station to the city hall, where the keys of the city were turned over to him.

Denby was prominent in Michigan business and automotive circles. He founded the Denby truck company and was one of the organizers of the Hupp Motor Co. Since his retirement from public life he was a practicing attorney in the firm of Denby, Kennedy & Kennedy.

JOHN K. WILL SENT TO PEN

Circleville Man Is Convicted of Forgery In Ross-co Court.

John K. Will, Circleville, found guilty of forgery by a jury in the Ross-co common pleas court, was sentenced to serve a year in the Ohio penitentiary and to pay the costs of prosecution by Judge Blosser Thursday. Will is the father of seven children who live with the mother on Mound-st.

Will was convicted of passing forged checks and it is claimed, he was arrested when he visited a Hallsville merchant for a second time and attempted to pass another check on him.

Asked what he wanted to say before sentence was passed on him, Will said:

"God knows that I am innocent. The checks might have been forged, but I did not pass them. I never saw any of them until I saw them in the court of the justice of the peace when I was arrested. I was never in Hallsville until about three weeks before I was arrested and when I went there on some Circleville business. I ask leniency on my family's account."

"Make you are innocent as you say, but the jury found you guilty," Judge Blosser said. "Make the witnesses were mistaken, but they testified under oath that they identified you."

Sentence was then passed.

"What Is Spin-Ago?" They Ask
—A Wonderful Tonic,
Answers William Morris.

Great crowds are daily coming to the Mykrantz Pharmacy, 107 N. Court St., Circleville, to ask just what Spin-Ago is and how it can perform such wonders as its users say it has—Their questions are answered by those people who have benefited by its use—They don't make idle claims or promises, they say in so many words what this new tonic, which contains Spinach, has done for them—For instance, just the other day, Mr. William Morris, residing at 118 E. Water St., Circleville, a man who has suffered agonies for ten years, came in and made the following remarkable statement:

"For about ten years I had been suffering from constipation and stomach trouble—During this whole time I tried one medicine after another from drug stores and doctors—The misery was unbearable—I had no appetite whatever—My bodily resistance was weakened and I was in a terribly rundown condition—I was about discouraged after having tried so many different medicines over such a long period of time—Then I heard of Spin-Ago and what wonderful results other people had derived from it—One bottle of Spin-Ago did wonders for me—The second bottle did what all other medicines which I tried for ten years failed to do—I cured me—For the first time in ten years I now enjoy good health—My stomach trouble is gone—I have a good healthy appetite and enjoy my meals—My bowels are in good shape and my general condition is fine—I have Spin-Ago to thank for this change in me—It is a truly wonderful medicine I have now started my son on Spin-Ago and am sure that he will get the same results I have—If other sufferers from stomach trouble and indigestion will take my advice and try Spin-Ago, I am sure that they will be thankful for my recommendation."

Mr. Morris made this statement after he had experienced the wonders of Spin-Ago relief—It was a voluntary statement, made in the hope that other sufferers would take his advice and allow Spin-Ago to banish their pains—It is difficult to pick out any one or two who have experienced outstanding relief—because there are so many who come in daily, anxious to tell others what it has done for them—Many residents of Circleville who have been suffering from constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia, sick headache, sour stomach and belching have been completely relieved after the use of one or two bottles—Many others have been life-long sufferers from diseases and complaints caused by deficient blood—Spinach, which is the most important ingredient in Spin-Ago, has always been used to purify and enrich the blood—Doctors have always recommended it and probably always will—It makes the blood rich, red and pure—and if your blood is rich, red and pure you can't help but be healthy—The benefits of Spin-Ago do not stop at stomach and blood complaints—Rheumatism, also falls before this wonderful new tonic—according to many Circleville residents

But how can Spin-Ago bring such results simply in this way? It is a powerful compound made up first of all of concentrated Spinach the value of which has been explained above—First spinach is used for this preparation—It is dried under great heat until all the moisture is gone—The result is a powder which contains all the valuable elements contained in Spinach and does not contain any of the moisture which merely adds to the bulk of Spinach—Thus we have concentrated Spinach an ounce of which contains all the beneficial elements which many pounds of fresh spinach contain

Beside the important ingredient, Spin-Ago contains the following well-known herbs, roots and barks, the medicinal values of which are well known—Cascara, Sarsaparilla, Mandrake, Dandelion, Prickly Ash, Poke Root, German Licorice, Burdock and

HANDS ACROSS THE GREAT DIVIDE

HOW would you like to be with your wife when she comes home from your funeral? Two or three days of sorrow, worry and utter depression after your death, and your wife and family follow you to your last resting place. Then the awful ride home without you—alone with her thoughts. You are not there to comfort her—you, who have always been her guide through all her former troubles. Now she's alone. Her friends to comfort her, but she can't help but think of her present loss and worry about what is to become of her. What are the children going to do? Immediately she thinks of you, not realizing that you have gone forever. You are not there to consult and advise. What is to be done? No regular salary—your producing income stopped! The depths of hell are reached in her mind. If only you could come back, how different things would be to her and for her.

You can come back, in a material way, but by a monthly check payable to her on the first day of each month as long as she lives.

When you are in good health, you never think of death. You think of it occurring to your neighbors and friends, but never to yourself. To himself, every man is an exception.

A small item from your extravagances, your pleasures and the expenses of yourself and family—just a small amount saved daily—will make an investment in a security that will be more than a money investment. It will be your coming every month, after your work is over, to relieve the worry, trouble and destitution of those you loved, cherished and protected while you were here.—S. G. Rader.

What Will you do When your Children Cry for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria! At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of us comfort. And any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and that colic or constipation is relieved, or diarrhea checked. A wonderful remedy, a baby remedy meant for young folks. Castoria is about the only thing you have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria! Remember the name, and remember to buy it. It may spare you a sleepless-anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use, in every emergency, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that baby becomes fretful, or restless Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it.

sors kept them fighting to maintain the small lead they had secured. At the half way post the score stood 23 to 16 with the club on the long end.

The second half, however, brought quite a change into the situation. The Waverly professors had a good team but could not stand up under the fast pace set by the C. A. C. squad and were swamped by the dashing attack of the local team. One would think from the one-sided score that the game was disinteresting. But this is not the case.

The spirited playing of the club team was very pleasing to the small crowd of spectators whose enthusiasm was an inspiration to that hard fighting C. A. C. crew.

Blessed Forgetfulness
If there is one thing more than anything else that makes life worth living, it is the fact that it is utterly impossible for any human being to remember all the fool things he or she has done.—Springfield Union.

Luck on the Lookout
Luck is always on the lookout for the fellow who has a conscience and sense enough to obey it. This, however, does not wholly satisfy the fickle goddess. The young man must be eager to find his place and generous in the work it demands.—American Magazine.

Primitive Hostels
The Romans are credited with having invented "hotels," which were first known in Italy as "osteria." They were slovenly places, without host, cook, waiters or beds. In fact, all they gave the traveler was shelter from the weather. He had to bring his own bedding and food and do his own cooking.

Fliers Lose Thrilling Contest
By Margin Of One Point.

For the second consecutive time the Flying Clouds were defeated by the Walnut Tigers when they lost a hard fought contest by the close score of 25 to 24 in the preliminary game at the C. A. C. gym Thursday night.

The game was a hotly battled fray and at no time was either team more than three points ahead. The score was tied seven times and was 12 to 12 when the half ended. The Clouds were outclassed in size and experience by the Walnut team, of which Swoyer was the star, collecting 12 points. List with 10 points, was high scorer for the Clouds.

So far this season the Walnut quintet has lost only one game.

Infants' Heads Flattened
The Chinookan Indians indulged in the practice of flattening the heads of their children. A board attached to the cradle board of the infant brought pressure to bear upon the forehead which soon flattened it.

What Will you do When your Children Cry for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria! At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort. And any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and that colic or constipation is relieved; or diarrhea checked. A vegetable product; a baby remedy meant for young folks. Castoria is about the only thing you have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however harmless they may be to grownups. Good old Castoria! Remember the name, and remember to buy it. It may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use; in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that Baby becomes fretful, or restless Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it.

that the new Nash "400" is the only car of all the new cars that offers all these important features as standard equipment... at no extra cost

THE new Nash "400" not only gives you all the important 1929 refinements listed above, but gives them to you without one single cent of extra cost. All motor cars have two prices—the factory (f. o. b.) price, and the delivered price. If the delivered price includes the extras, charged for at retail prices, you'll find your car costing a lot more than you anticipate.

Some dealers (not Nash dealers) charge as much as $50 or $60 for bumpers alone. On the new Nash "400" you'll find every necessary accessory... hydraulic shock absorbers... bumpers, front and rear... even tire locks... installed at the factory... included in the factory price... at no extra cost. That means a very much lower price, delivered, fully equipped. The Nash "400" leads the world in motor car value!

"MONEY COULDN'T BUY THE HEALTH KONJOLA GAVE ME"

After Years of Suffering From Stomach and Kidney Troubles, Happy Lady Says She Was Relieved of Ailments.

MRS. SUSAN JONES

"What a joy it is to recommend this wonderful Konjola, and money couldn't buy the health it gave me after I suffered for years from stomach and kidney troubles," said Mrs. Susan Jones, Denison, Ohio, a short distance from Coshocton.

"Each meal was a source of suffering to me. Gas pains were almost unendurable. It was with difficulty that I could get my breath. Frequent night risings and dull pains across my back were the results of kidney trouble. For years these ailments had been just as much a part of my life as breathing. I was deeply discouraged, for nothing helped me in the slightest.

"The results I obtained through Konjola exceeded my fondest imagination. Immediately I began to feel better. The indigestion pains and gas bloating began to fade away and then my stomach was put in wonderful condition. Now I eat anything I care for. Konjola then strengthened my kidneys and banished night risings and back pains. Do you wonder that I am full of praise for this medicine?"

Konjola is sold in Circleville, O., at Mykranitz Pharmacy, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section—Adv.

Richard Larkins, Wesley Fesler, Harold Ervin, Tom Stull and Robert Tittel are all in their first season of competition, while Fred Schuler, William Hinchman and Jack Evans have another year to play after the present one. George Van Heyde is the only man to be lost when the curtain falls on the 1929 campaign. Van Heyde is the center while Schuler, Tittel, Ervin and Evans are forwards. The guard posts find a pair, selected from Fesler, Larkins or Hinchman.

SPARK CARRIED ON GLOVE STARTS FIRE

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Siegwald, of 508 N. Court-st were awakened shortly after 1 o'clock Friday morning by the smell of smoke. They hastened downstairs to find the lower rooms filled with smoke that was coming from the wash room. Smoke was so dense there that they could not enter, so they called the fire department.

Upon arrival, the firemen immediately entered the wash room and discovered an upholstered chair on fire. This was immediately put out with no further damage excepting a small hole burned in the linoleum. The fire evidently started from a pair of leather gloves which Mr. Siegwald is in the habit of wearing when he banks the fire every night. When he took them off and threw them on the chair, the nap on the cuff must have had a tiny spark, which slowly ignited the gloves and then the chair.

HOPETOWN MAN NOW PRAISES HOYT'S

Results From Famous Prescription Unbelievable Declares This Widely Known Man.

"The results that I obtained from this Great Hoyt's Compound were simply UNBELIEVABLE," declared Mr. Jacob Cryder, well known resident of this section. Mr. Cryder, was born in Hopetown, Ohio (three miles north of Chillicothe) and lived here for several years. This is the great medicine that is now being introduced every day to

MR. JACOB CRYDER.

Residents of this entire section at Wilder's Drug Store, Circleville, Ohio. Mr. Cryder suffered with a terrible case of stomach trouble since he was a young boy and finally began to have trouble with his kidneys and bowels, which seemed to grow worse all the time until finally this well known man began to lose hope when all the different medicines he had tried failed to give him the slightest relief. He had to always be taking strong physics in order to get the least bit of results, and his kidneys gave him so much trouble that he was up every few minutes of the night, naturally this caused him to always be tired and worn out and feel draggy because of lack of sleep. How Hoyt's quickly ended this well known man's suffering is told in his own statement which follows:

"Everyone here in Chillicothe who knows me, knows that I have suffered terribly for several years with my stomach, kidneys and bowels," said Mr. Cryder. "I have suffered with my stomach since boyhood and during these many years have never found anything to give me relief except for a short time and then I would be just as bad off as ever. Was terribly constipated and had always had to take strong purgatives as far back as I can remember. Kidney and bladder also broke my rest every few minutes of the night and consequently I always felt tired and worn out and draggy the following day and never felt like working. I tried different kinds of medical aid and every kind of medicine that I ever heard of that was recommended for my troubles without any relief whatever. Then just as I began to give up hope of ever finding relief I began reading where Hoyt's was doing so much for others here in the vicinity and many of my friends who had taken this great medicine advised me to try it. I decided to give Hoyt's a trial although I had lost faith in medicines. I was unable to go after the medicine myself and had to send for it. I will have to say that I began getting results from the first few doses and before I had taken one-half bottle I could go to bed and sleep soundly throughout the night without rising. The results from this great medicine were simply unbelievable. It has put my stomach in the best condition that I can ever remember it being in. I never have to take laxatives. My bowels are regulated perfectly. I can hardly believe that any single medicine could do as much for anyone as Hoyt's has done for me. It has made me feel like a young man again, and I heartily recommend it to sufferers everywhere."

Hoyt's Compound is being introduced daily at Wilder's Drug Store, Circleville, Ohio. Also for sale at all well stocked drug stores everywhere.—Adv.

This is a hard-water country

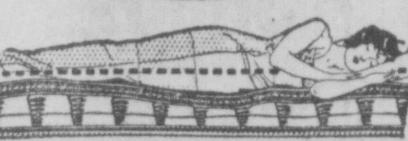

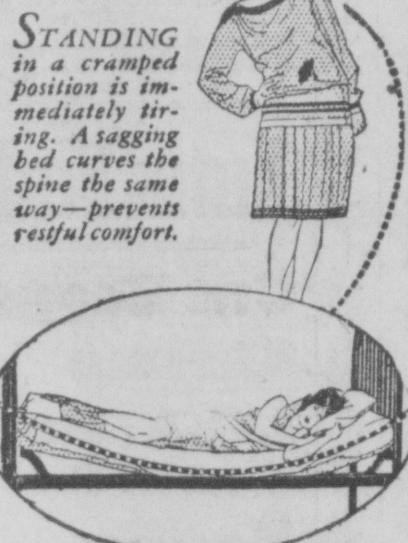

SOAP and hard water make scum. The hardness in the water combines with the soap. The scum collects dirt. There is a dirty ring around the dishpan, the washbub, the bathtub. But soften hard water with Melo and no scum forms.

Water softened with Melo is a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap. It makes the soap much more effective, too, saving from 1/3 to 1/2 the amount ordinarily used. Melo only costs 10 cents a can. You can afford to buy 3 cans and keep one in the kitchen, one in the laundry, and one in the bathroom. Get it at your grocer's.

SPARK CARRIED ON GLOVE STARTS FIRE

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Siegwald, of 508 N. Court-st were awakened shortly after 1 o'clock Friday morning by the smell of smoke. They hastened downstairs to find the lower rooms filled with smoke that was coming from the wash room. Smoke was so dense there that they could not enter, so they called the fire department.

Upon arrival, the firemen immediately entered the wash room and discovered an upholstered chair on fire. This was immediately put out with no further damage excepting a small hole burned in the linoleum. The fire evidently started from a pair of leather gloves which Mr. Siegwald is in the habit of wearing when he bakes the fire every night. When he took them off and threw them on the chair, the nap on the cuff must have had a tiny spark, which slowly ignited the gloves and then the chair.

HOPETOWN MAN NOW PRAISES HOYT'S

Results From Famous Prescription Unbelievable Declares This Widely Known Man.

"The results that I obtained from this Great Hoyt's Compound were simply UNBELIEVABLE," declared Mr. Jacob Cryder, well known resident of this section. Mr. Cryder, was born in Hopetown, Ohio (three miles north of Chillicothe) and lived here for several years. This is the great medicine that is now being introduced every day to

MR. JACOB CRYDER.

Residents of this entire section at Wilder's Drug Store, Circleville, Ohio. Mr. Cryder suffered with a terrible case of stomach trouble since he was a young boy and finally began to have trouble with his kidneys and bowels, which seemed to grow worse all the time until finally this well known man began to lose hope when all the different medicines he had tried failed to give him the slightest relief. He had to always be taking strong physics in order to get the least bit of results, and his kidneys gave him so much trouble that he was up every few minutes of the night, naturally this caused him to always be tired and worn out and feel draggy because of lack of sleep. How Hoyt's quickly ended this well known man's suffering is told in his own statement which follows:

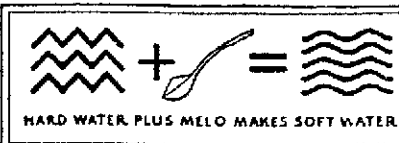

"Everyone here in Chillicothe who knows me, knows that I have suffered terribly for several years with my stomach, kidneys and bowels," said Mr. Cryder. "I have suffered with my stomach since boyhood and during these many years have never found anything to give me relief except for a short time and then I would be just as bad off as ever. Was terribly constipated and had always had to take strong purgatives as far back as I can remember. Kidney and bladder also broke my rest every few minutes of the night and consequently I always felt tired and worn out and draggy the following day and never felt like working. I tried different kinds of medical aid and every kind of medicine that I ever heard of that was recommended for my troubles without any relief whatever. Then just as I began to give up hope of ever finding relief I began reading where Hoyt's was doing so much for others here in the vicinity and so one of my friends who had taken this great medicine advised me to try it. I decided to give Hoyt's a trial although I had lost faith in medicines. I was unable to go after the medicine myself and had to send for it. I will have to say that I began getting results from the first few doses and before I had taken one-half bottle I could go to bed and sleep soundly throughout the night without rising. The results from this great medicine were simply unbelievable. It has put my stomach in the best condition that I can ever remember it being in. I never have to take laxatives. My bowels are regulated perfectly. I can hardly believe that any single medicine could do as much for anyone as Hoyt's has done for me. It has made me feel like a young man again, and I heartily recommend it to sufferers everywhere."

Hoyt's Compound is being introduced daily at Wilder's Drug Store, Circleville, Ohio. Also for sale at all well stocked drug stores everywhere.—Adv.

This is a hard-water country

SOAP and hard water make scum. The hardness in the water combines with the soap. The scum collects dirt. There is a dirty ring around the dishpan, the washbub, the bathtub. But soften hard water with Melo and no scum forms.

Water softened with Melo is a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap. It makes the soap much more effective, too, saving from 1/3 to 1/2 the amount ordinarily used. Melo only costs 10 cents a can. You can afford to buy 3 cans and keep one in the kitchen, one in the laundry, and one in the bathroom. Get it at your grocer's.

BIBLE THOUGHT

SIN ACKNOWLEDGED—We acknowledge, O Lord, our wickedness, and the iniquity of our fathers: for we have sinned against thee.—Jeremiah 14-20.
PRAYER—Unto Thee, O Lord, do I lift up my soul. For Thou art good, and ready to forgive.

THE FRONTIER SPIRIT

We like to say that we have left the frontier a long way behind us. Our grandfathers, living in isolated wilderness settlements, used to have to battle mightily every winter with snow, cold and loneliness, but we have a habit of saying that all of that sort of thing is buried in the past. Automobiles, telephones, good roads and a rapidly increasing population—so they tell us—have set us free.

Maybe so. But there are still plenty of places in the United States where a winter blizzard calls for just as much fortitude, two generations ago. The frontier, at times, is nearer than we think. A terrific snowstorm struck the northwest recently. In Idaho the drifts were 10 feet deep. Roads were impassable; a high wind and bitter cold added to the difficulties of dwellers on lonely ranches. At the height of the storm the daughter of a stockman was stricken with acute appendicitis. The nearest surgeon was 30 miles away, at the town of Cottonwood. The father put his daughter in a covered sleigh and started out. All day they fought the blizzard. By night they had made so little headway that they had to turn back.

Somewhat they got word to some neighbors. The next morning a handful of cowboys appeared. Driving their animals ahead of the sleigh, the cowboys plunged to their necks in the drifted snow to break a path for the sleigh. Throughout the day they kept at it. Men and horses forced themselves to keep at it to the limit of their endurance. Bravely and painfully, they made their way over the long 30-mile stretch of blocked roads to the town of Cottonwood.

Finally, late at night they passed the last of the drifts and reached the town. The girl was operated on and the surgeon said she would recover.

Such things don't happen as often as they used to. They are the exceptions now, and not the rule. But it is comforting to see that when they do happen, people are still capable of meeting them. The ability to face cold, darkness and storm is one of our most valuable heritages. So long as we continue to possess it we can retain our old pride in our birthright. The dauntless Idaho cowboys have served us all. They have proved that the strain of the hard frontiersmen is still strong.

THEATERS

SHIELD OF HONOR
"The Shield of Honor" is the feature photoplay at the Grand theatre tonight, starring Neil Hamilton and Ralph Lewis. It shows a thrilling battle between air police and a notorious band of jewel thieves, interwoven with the life story of a father who gave his life to service and of his son who followed his footsteps. The last chapter of "Tarzan the Mighty" also will be shown.

HOLT HAS CO-STAR
Jack Holt and Bacalova, the talented Russian actress, give such a spirited and convincing performance in the new Zane Gray picture, "Avalanche" at the Metropolitan theatre, that moving picture audiences are certain to demand more pictures using this combination.

Jack Holt alone won universal favor with motion picture audiences in the Western roles which he plays so well. In "Avalanche" he outdoes his best and creates a character with a rare sympathetic appeal. Bacalova, in the strange Western setting displays the versatility of the talent which brought her fame in the Emil Jennings picture "The Street of Sin" and in the recent George Baneroff masterpiece, "The Ducks of New York."

ALAN HALE VERSATILE
The remarkable versatility of Alan Hale, who plays the leading role opposite Phyllis Haver in "Sal of Singapore," at the Clifton Theatre, is demonstrated by the two widely different roles for which he is best remembered, the villain in "The Covered Wagon" and the father in "The Four Horsemen."

He is seen as the non-handled master of a tramp freighter, "The Easy Mark."

Near Budapest, Hungary, is an underground city where more than 1,000 people live. The strangest part about it is that it is under a cemetery. It started in 1838 when people fled to the caves from a flood. The soft rock lends itself to the carving of both rooms and furniture. The place is cool in summer and warm in winter.

Impatient Griselda

by Dorothy Scarborough

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

TO Irene Robeline it was a painful duty to sit up at the vigil of Lilith Holden. The story of Lilith's capture of handsome Guinn Holden, young minister of the Texas town, as told by Mattie Anson, village gossip, was like a stab with a knife. Lilith was the prettiest girl in town. Her coquetry drew stop at the church, but almost before she knew it she had married Holden. A year later, with the birth of a child, Lilith died. Irene's heart aches for the girl who attempts to care for the infant with the aid of a colored servant. The minister comes to her for advice, never realizing Irene's passion for him. Will Lundy, town doctor, in love with Irene, is equally ignorant of her secret. Even Mattie Anson, who hints that it is time for Irene to reject him and determine the more to her own. She learns the care of babies so-as to be of help to him, for his whole life is wrapped up in the pretty child in whom he sees the dead Lilith.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER IX.

THE baby looked exactly as her mother must have looked when she was little with the same silky, pale-gold hair, that now began to curl in adorable duck tails at the back of her neck and at her temples; the same eyes, big and lovely, of a clear blue, not like the indeterminate color that most infants show; and her long, fringed eyelashes were beginning to take on beauty. Her skin was incredibly white, and her round cheeks were pink as peach blooms.

She had a friendly little smile as her mother came to her, and her most masculine beholders, especially her father, she would lay a soft hand on a visitor's cheek, her eyes would dance mischief, and she would bounce and gurgle in place.

She was a friendly little soul in her amiable moods, and she liked all the congregation. But she showed preference for the men, and was always delighted when the deacons had their meeting at the parsonage. She was fond of the deacons than of the Ladies' Aids, and she found them in general not only more attentive to her, but more amenable to her demands.

Art Rakestraw would steal her from her go-cart and give her all sorts of things to eat. It took in suits from the Ladies' Aids to stop him from regaling her with all-day suckers, and Irene came up just in time one day to snatch a hot tamale from Lilith's eager fist.

As Lilith's eye followed her, she set up a wail, Irene caught her to her heart, murmuring the inconsequentialities that women utter over babies.

The scene took place in front of Irene's house and the minister, hearing the disturbance, rushed out to rescue his child.

"Who's she showing my baby to?" asked in polite but anxious tones Art looked in apprehension at Irene.

"Your daughter was crying for hot tamales," she told Guinn.

"We suggested that she wait a few years, but she doesn't like waiting."

"I see." He stood looking down at Irene, with Lilith snuggled in her arms. "Life isn't so simple, my daughter, that you can have everything you cry for."

"Some of us don't get our hot tamales even if we wait," said Art.

"And sometimes when we get 'em, we find they're cold, and we don't care for 'em."

"And maybe somebody else's hot tamale's got to be put in."

gobbles 'em up and leaves us nothing but the husks." Art was rather proud of his metaphor and willing to pursue it.

Guinn Holden smiled his humorous, winning smile. That's a masculine opinion. Now what do you women think about it, Miss Irene?

"Maybe the tamale is worth waiting for, and maybe even the husk is better than a substitute." Her eyes were merry, and she spoke lightly, but the hand that smoothed Lilith's coat was trembling.

Lilith twisted suddenly in her arms and laid a hand like a white butterfly on Irene's cheek, in a fugitive, fluttering caress, and then, with coquetry, she squirmed forward, nodding out impudently at her father.

He watched her up in delight, and from the vantage of his shoulders she gurgled flirtatiously at Art Rakestraw.

"Now ain't she the beatifulest young'un you ever saw?" that Art mused chuckling.

"She ain't me exactly," her father conceded.

The smiling tenderness in his eyes, the caress in his voice hurt Irene indeliberately. He simply didn't know that anyone that baby had in the world except that baby.

At last, she turned to her father, but he didn't seem to notice her.

Then she asked with showy thought she was jealous of a baby—a little, motherly thing.

Irene showed herself so learned in infant physiology and psychology that the minister turned to her with a smile of approval.

THANK OFFERING SERVICE

U. B. SOCIETY

The annual Thank Offering of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Brethren Church were most fittingly observed Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. W. Van Winkle, West Main St.

In the absence of the Thank offering secretary, Mrs. Jennie Steele, the president of the society, Mrs. Orpah Kirkwood was the leader for the day.

The meeting opened with song service and the worship period. Making Christ Known to the World, consisting of scripture references and prayer.

A short business session followed during which plans were made for the all-day meeting in March and the World's Day of Prayer to be observed at the U. B. Church on the afternoon of Feb. 15th.

The program of the day was then taken up. An interesting leaflet, "Our Task Over the Sea" was read by Miss Nelle McCollister. The companion leaflet, "Our Task at Home" was read by Mrs.

Fannie Greeno

An interesting appeal story entitled "Mrs. Picketts Missionary Box" was told by Mrs. Maude Peters.

This was a tender heart-searing story, that seemed to prepare the listeners for the last exercise "My Thank Offering." Five women representing Africa, China, Japan, Porto-Rico and the Philippines, the five fields of missionary work in the U. B. Church, filed in and took their place around the table. As the song, "Tell Me The Old-Old Story" was softly sung, the members came forward and emptied their little lavender boxes, the money to go for special work in these fields.

Rev. B. C. Peters then led in prayer, closing the meeting. During the social hour delicious refreshments of fruit salad sandwiches pickles and coffee were served by the hostess.

MRS. LEASURE HAS BRIDGE CLUB
Mrs. Grace Leasure of Kings-ton delightfully entertained her bridge club Tuesday evening. The members enjoying the delicious six o'clock dinner of three courses and the game were Mesdames Robert Brundige Carson Dreisback, Robert Cryder, J. P. Gardner, Egbert Freshour, G. W. McGinnis, Lida Boggs and Misses Josephine Brundige and Mildred Holdeman. The guests were Mrs. Will Avis of Circleville, Mrs. Charles Foster and Mrs. James Wright. Mrs. Will Avis was presented the guest prize and Mrs. James Wright first prize.

FORMER RESIDENT NOW IN CHILLICOTHE

The household goods of the Rev. E. K. Johnson of Newark, O., new pastor of the Walnut street M. E. Church, Chillicothe, arrived there Thursday afternoon and were taken to the parsonage of Walnut St. M. E. Church, on West Second Street.

CAST OF SHOW IS ENTERTAINED

One of the most delightful affairs held in Kingston was the beautiful party Wednesday evening given by Mrs. Charlotte Goth at the home of Mrs. C. M. Senff. The function honored the members of the Community Fire Fighters' Society who presented the play "Diamonds and Detectives" recently. The society held a short business session at eight o'clock when Mrs. Vera Senff, the president presided. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Kathrine Kuhn. Mrs. Senff appointed a purchasing committee composed of Mrs. Leslie Shepler, Mrs. F. P. Long, and Mrs. W. F. Bond, wives of the Fire Fighters, who will attend to the purchasing of rubber coats and hats. At the conclusion of the short business session, the guests enjoyed guessing contests and card games.

One contest which caused much merriment was the counting of Snyder won the first prize for guessing the nearest number farthest away from the correct number.

At ten o'clock the guests were ushered to the dining room where they found their places by means of place cards in pretty baskets containing almonds, the card fastened by a small rose. The tables were beautifully decorated with red hearts dotting the white damask, and centerpieces of snapdragons and carnations in pink Venetian vases. The refreshments were cake and ice cream, heart shaped and topped with white cupid's coffee, delicious home made candy and red cinnamon hearts. The guests enjoying the affair were Mrs. F. P. Long, Mrs. Charles Rittick, Mrs. Leslie Shepler, Mrs. Ira Blaine, Mrs. Nellie Foster, Mrs. Irene Brooks, Mrs. Vera Senff, Mrs. Bessie Holdeman, Mrs. W. L. Evans, Mrs. D. W. Kuhn, Mrs. Gladys Snyder, Mrs. N. F. Bond, and Mrs. Alice Brundige and Miss Laura Bush.

ALL DAY MEETING AT M. E. CHURCH

Church day at the Methodist church Thursday was culminated, after the Women's Foreign Missionary meeting, with a large degree of success. Each society had a satisfactory business session with a good attendance. At noon dinner was served to more than seventy persons.

Mrs. Charles Stofer, Presided at the meeting of the Ladies Aid, the president, Mrs. G. G. Leist being ill. Since there was little business to transact, adjournment soon followed.

The Women's Foreign Missionary convened at 1:30 o'clock for their monthly session. Mrs. Chas. Gerhardt conducted the devotionals, Mrs. M. E. Noggle sang "The Old Rugged Cross." Miss Letha Belle Beavers gave a splendid review of the chapter "Along the Congo" taken from the study book "Friends of Africa." Mrs. L. E. Davidson, who was leader for the meeting had charge of the "mystery Box Questions."

Each of the societies received three dollars as its share of the dinner.

At the meeting of the Home Missionary Society, at 10:00 a. m., the president, Mrs. Ernie Tolbert, the president, presided. After the usual business had been disposed of, Mrs. Tolbert turned the meeting over to Mrs. Jay Wall.

Mrs. Mack Noggle, sang two songs, "The Indian Love Song" and "By the Waters of Minnetonka." The subject of these songs was one of the several, with which Mrs. Wall dealt in her address on a diversified home mission study. She talked with out notes in a most gripping manner on her subjects, of which she had a wide and up to the minute knowledge. Her listeners were taken with her to the Pinos Indian Reservations in Arizona, and to conditions in Georgia, North Carolina, up to New York State, and back to Denver. She spoke of current happenings in politics and Washington, D. C. that had occurred through efforts of home missions. As she proceeded her audience was held by the inspiration which the speaker gave to them through her own earnestness of the importance of home missions. She said, "I believe that our ideals of democracy are realized in what the home mission stands for."

She was assisted in her symposium very ably by the following women: Mrs. Carl Ritz, Mrs. Charles Imier, Mrs. Milton Kellstadt, Mrs. Charles E. Rife, Mrs. Fred Nicholas and Mrs. Harry Smith.

Mrs. L. H. Shane of Hanover is visiting at the home of her son, Dr. E. S. Shane, 592 N. Court-st.

Dr. and Mrs. G. G. Leist are recovering from a week's illness with grippe.

THANK OFFERING SERVICE OF U. B. SOCIETY

The annual Thank Offering meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Brethren Church were most fittingly observed Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. W. Van Winkle, West Main St.

In the absence of the Thank Offering secretary, Mrs. Jennie Steele, the president of the society, Mrs. Orpah Kirkwood was the leader for the day.

The meeting opened with song service and the worship period, "Making Christ Known to the World," consisting of scripture references and prayer.

A short business session followed during which plans were made for the all-day meeting in March and the World's Day of Prayer to be observed at the U. B. Church on the afternoon of Feb. 15th.

The program of the day was then taken up. An interesting leaflet, "Our Task Over the Sea" was read by Miss Nelle McColister. The companion leaflet, "Our Task at Home" was read by Mrs.

Fannie Greeno.

An interesting appeal story entitled, "Mrs. Picketts Missionary Box" was told by Mrs. Maude Peters.

This was a tender heart-searing story, that seemed to prepare the listeners for the last exercise, "My Thank Offering." Five women representing Africa, China, Japan, Porto-Rico and the Philippines, the five fields of missionary work in the U. B. Church, filed in and took their place around the table. As the song, "Tell Me The Old-Old Story" was softly sung, the members came forward and emptied their little lavender boxes, the money to go for special work in these fields.

Rev. B. C. Peters then led in prayer, closing the meeting. During the social hour delicious refreshments of fruit salad, sandwiches, pickles and coffee were served by the hostess.

MRS. LEASURE HAS BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. Grace Leasure of Kingston delightfully entertained her bridge club Tuesday evening. The members enjoying the delicious six o'clock dinner of three courses and the game were: Mesdames Robert Brundige, Carson Dreisback, Robert Cryder, J. P. Gardner, Egbert Freshour, G. W. McGinnis, Lida Boggs and Misses Josephine Brundige and Mildred Holderman. The guests were Mrs. Will Avis of Circleville, Mrs. Charles Foster and Mrs. James Wright. Mrs. Will Avis was presented the guest prize and Mrs. James Wright first prize.
